INTRODUCTION

Characterized by three simulated major ecosystems namely; wetland, savannah and forest, the Safari Walk is the closest you can get to the wild.

The raised wooden boardwalk that snakes around the ecosystem allows for uninterrupted views of the animals, the varied wildlife habitats, River Mokoyet and the beautiful rocky thickets of Nairobi National Park.

Visitors can discover the flora and fauna they expect to see across the country at the Nairobi Safari walk. They can sample the menu of the country’s rich fauna and flora including the white rhino, Big cats, Crocodiles, Pigmy Hippo, antelopes and primates. It is also home to some 150 indigenous trees.

Other than game viewing, the facility is also a conservation education hub for schools, higher learning institutions and the general public. Conservation education conducted here is in an effort to foster and rally Kenyans and the public at large to take part and contribute in conservation of our wildlife heritage for the present and future generations and for the world. Nairobi Safari Walk also acts as a wildlife research center especially to students/learning institutions.

KEY ATTRACTIONS & ACTIVITIES

The wildlife exhibits are designed in such a way that the visitors get an up close view of the animals at a safe distance. The identification boards on the cages offer more information about the animal in the exhibits thus allowing the visitors to derive a better experience from their visit.

Visitors can enjoy walking, picnicking, game and bird viewing. The Nairobi Safari Walk Children’s museum with a diorama also offers a lot of information about flora and fauna.

Volunteer and internship opportunities are available for both local and international students and visitors.

For such enquiries, contact Kenya Wildlife Service Human Capital Division, Training Department on training@kws.go.ke.

ACCOMMODATION

Stay in the Wild, explore, create memories

The sanctuary doesn’t offer any self-catering accommodation options, but visitors can select from a wide array of accommodation options in Nairobi city and its environs.
